Message from Mary's Meals

Dear friend, You may have seen stories from Haiti in the news lately – one of the 18 countries where Mary's Meals works. In recent weeks, widespread civil unrest has escalated in Haiti and engulfed the capital city of Port-au-Prince, causing death, displacement, and rapidly increasing hunger. The chaotic violence has forced many schools and businesses to close and thousands of people to flee their homes in search of safety. Under normal circumstances, Mary's Meals serves school meals to more than 175,000 children every school day through our local partners on the ground. Our meals are served to children living in Haiti's West and Centre departments. Across both areas, in 68% of schools where our meals are usually served, feeding is still taking place. The situation is volatile and evolving, but our incredible local partners are working tirelessly to ensure our programme can continue wherever possible. Thank you for your generous donations.
